CTAS: Assessing the Cloud Readiness of Your Organization

Cloud-based IT is being adopted and embraced by most enterprises today, with 90% of enterprise workloads expected to run in the cloud by 2020. Hybrid cloud infrastructure enables easy migration of IT services from on-premises environments to cloud environments. This enables enterprises to run workloads where it makes the most sense, based on performance, economics and security priorities. As your organization prepares for this transition, a cloud transformation assessment is the sensible first step in developing and executing your cloud strategy.

Prepare for the Cloud Era

ACTS Cloud Transformation Assessment Service evaluates your company's readiness for digital transformation and identifies the applications in your portfolio that will deliver the most value when moved to the cloud. The service provides a strategic roadmap for your journey to the cloud. The focus is on the possibilities for cloud transformation to deliver accretive value by improving business operations and accelerating innovation throughout your organization.

ACTS Assessment Methodology

ACTS assessment methodology involves evaluating your organization's environment and opportunities across four levels:

Cloud Level – Do you need a private cloud, public cloud services, or a hybrid model? Based on discovery, ACTS will design a best-fit cloud model for your organization with recommend top-tier cloud providers.

Application Level – Our team will determine the optimum environment for your applications, evaluating which will deliver the most value when moved to the cloud.

Technology Level – We analyze your technologies and use a best-practices approach for cloud transformation that spans database conversion, data migration, servers, virtual machines, and services.

IT Workload Level – Your assessment explains recommended tools for business continuity and disaster recovery, instrumentation and monitoring, scalability and backup, network optimization, and identity provisioning and authentication.

CTAS Approach

Gain Situational Fluency
Our consultants gain a deep understanding of your business and current situation, and then identify your most value-rich cloud opportunities.

Leverage the Cloud Ecosystem
Our team's understanding of today's cloud ecosystem is applied to your situation, identifying and prioritizing optimum cloud components and solutions.

Deliver a Cloud Transformation Roadmap
We model your future cloud-transformed architecture and provide a value realization roadmap, including the evaluation of risks and roadblocks.
